HAUGHTON SENDS SQUAD THROUGH SCRIMMAGE

Second Team Put On Plays Used by New Haven Eleven—Brickley Drops Kicks From 80-Yard Line.

NO REST FOR YALE REGULARS

Hinkey Drives Batteries for Thirty Minutes—Army Shifts Players. Indians Stage Signal Drill—Spirited Practice for Navy.

CAMBRIDGE, November 17.—With one day remaining for practice work in Cambridge, Coach Haughton sent his charges through a scrimmage to-day with the second team.

The second team put on the Yale plays. The varsity spent the greater part of the afternoon playing on the defensive. A little time was also consumed by practice on the offensive.

Captain Brickley was in a scrimmage play this afternoon and managed to put over a dropkick from the thirty-yard line against the second team. There is doubt whether he will be able to take any part in the Yale game. Francke, full back, returned to the line-up, but his leg is not better so badly bruised as first reported.

Soucy, first-string center, also reported to-day. Soucy will be a great addition, and should prove a tower of strength on the defensive. His return to the game has brought renewed interest to the team. Wallace, who has been playing center, will act as first substitute, and Bigelow, the utility man, will be put in either at tackle or guard, whichever is necessary.

This is the strongest line-up Harvard has put on the field since the middle of the season.

YALE

NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 17.—Rounded into shape by a physical condition by the cool weather, the Yale varsity team was driven through half an hour's scrimmage drill against the scrubs this afternoon. Usually the regulars are rested the entire week between the Princeton and Harvard games, but Coach Hinkey's policy is more Spartan-like.

There had every player except Fred Stillman in the forty-minute drill rehearsal that opened the work behind closed gates on old Yale Field. Carroll, Crookes and Guardway were excused from the scrimmaging. Stillman, Conroy and Knowles are all sprung from slightly sprained ankles, but will be in tip-top form by Saturday.

Chandler was in Conroy's berth, and Mal Scovill succeeded Knowles. Chandler recovered a scrub fumble and Scovill scored the first of the two touchdowns which the varsity took over.

Nick Carter was again at right end, and his down field running and tackling equaled the form he exhibited during the Yale-Princeton game. Fred Stillman was first-string choice last fall. Fred Stillman will start the Harvard game far from his best form, and will play most of Saturday's game.

It was announced to-night that Yale will play no more season game for the benefit of the European Red Cross fund. A match between Yale and one of the England colleges was suggested, but the Yale coaches were in favor of keeping the eleven in training after the season closes next Saturday.

ARMY

WEST POINT, N. Y., November 17.—The army to-day shifted of the Army football team to-day. The team was in the scrimmage at tackle in Weyand's place, and Herlick got back on the team at the end of the game.

Phillips-Exeter star, was Morrill's mate at end on the big team, and showed an splendid game.

A scrub eleven, armed with several Navy formations, made it warm for the regulars during the forty minutes of rough work, and had to be taken out of the play in favor of Goodman.

CARLEISLE

CARLEISLE, PA., November 17.—Since the Indians and Dickinson College resumed athletic relations by playing a football game on their schedule, considerable interest has developed in the game which will be played Saturday.

As the Indians and the Dickinsons have frequently practiced together, the game will be a very interesting one. Warner further reserved his varsity players from scrimmage, but allowed the regulars and reserve to play a set of thirty minutes' duration.

The aborigines were given a thorough going drill at fundamentals and signals.

NAVY

ANNAPOLIS, MD., November 17.—Football practice at the Naval Academy this afternoon was more spirited than ever, in view of the fact that final selections for the army game will be based largely on the showing of the players during this week's practice. Next week will be devoted to putting on the final touches, but the scrimmages will not be held as formerly, as the coaches wish to minimize the chances of injuries.

Blaggett is sure of his place at left half, as his kicking and passing are strong features of the team's playing. Harrison, Bates and Collins are all possibilities for one of the other three places.

CORNELL

ITHACA, N. Y., November 17.—A blinding snowstorm, the first Cornell football team indoors to-day. The coaches staged a scrimmage in the baseball cage, and every member of the varsity team was sent into the line-up for a short time.

The coaches directed most of their attention to the scrubs, however, and it is obvious that they plan to have two full teams ready for the Pennsylvania game. Kiehnert was out in uniform, and he worked for a few minutes in the scrimmage. He showed excellent form.

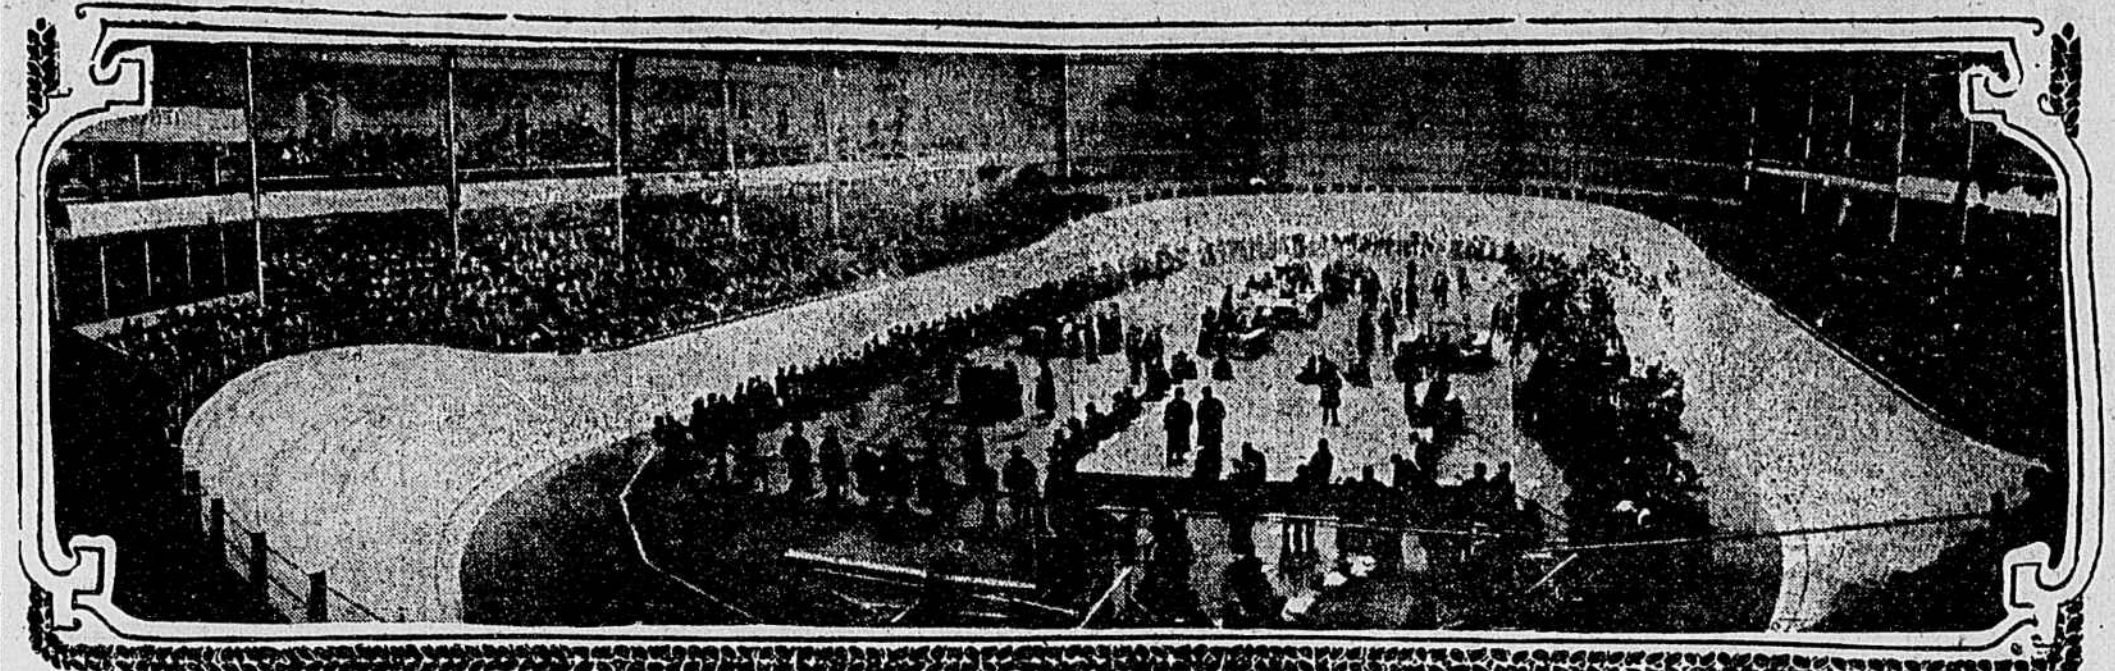

Coach Sharp's freshmen in the back field: Barrett, Shuler and Collier are sure to play, and Phillips' work last Saturday entitles him to a place. Kiehnert is also a very valuable man.

WASHINGTON SOCCERITES TO PLAY FRONT ROYAL TEAM

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 17.—On Thanksgiving Day, the local Soccer Club will be the guests of the students of the Randolph-Macon Academy at Front Royal, Va. Association football was introduced to the student body by Paula Van Hout, who hails from St. Paul, Brazil, where, until six years ago, soccer was practically unknown, but to-day his sport has the greatest following of any in the tropics.

Football was started there when the reserves from Astor Villa and Tottenham Hotspur played a series of exhibition games through Brazil and Argentina. It took the people by storm, for in less than six months there were three leagues in St. Paul and four in Rio de Janeiro. The leading English League sent out eleven players to these Southern cities, which helps the game along considerably.

BACKFIELD OUT OF PRACTICE

Injuries Sustained in Swarthmore Contest Keep All Except Sparr From Work—Word and Evans Injured and Bobbie Gooch Is Sick.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., November 17.

With practically the entire back field absent from practice on account of injuries sustained in the Swarthmore contest, Virginia's football squad made but little headway in to-day's work. The back field was out of uniform by sickness, leaving Full Back Sparr as the only regular member of the varsity fit to engage in scrimmage. Word, right half back, has developed a rather bad knee, and to participate in any of the scrimmages booked for this week or next. His place behind the line was taken to-day by Turner, the former Episcopal High School star, who made the final touch-down against Swarthmore.

The forwards were given special instruction on defensive tactics, including the purpose of Head Coach Wood along these lines in the week remaining before the Carolina contest. "Pat" Evans, place at center was taken to-day by Anderson, in order to give the former a thorough rest. Evans, in had the misfortune to strain his shoulder quite badly in the Swarthmore encounter.

Frank Gault, one of last year's tackles, who was chosen to lead this year's eleven, but left college to accept a position with the Swarthmore coaching squad to-morrow.

SEVERAL WAKE FOREST FOOTBALL PLAYERS INJURED

WAKE FOREST, November 17.—Bill Holding, the Baptist's great right, and one of the best receivers of forward passes in the South, was hurt in the game with Carolina in Raleigh Saturday. In the first few minutes of the game, while he was passing from Billings, Bridges he slipped and in the fall, and his foot was injured. Just how badly it is injured is not yet determined. He is hobbling around to-day on crutches.

However, the fighter will continue to get the bulk of the game receipts, and will continue to play in a few days, but will be unable to play in the game with Carolina on Saturday.

For practice this afternoon, the team was split into two squads. The first squad, consisting of the regulars, played a game with the second squad, which was made up of the reserves. The game was a close one, with the regulars winning by a score of 14 to 10.

YELLOW JACKETS HAVE TWO MORE GAMES TO PLAY

ASHLAND, VA., November 17.—The Yellow Jackets have not had a game for over a week, but have not been idle. Every day last week, with the exception of Saturday, the entire squad was out going through signals and scrimmaging.

Only two more weeks and the football season will be over, but in those two weeks the Yellow Jackets will have two of the hardest games of the season, and victories in both will mean a glorious football season for Old Randolph-Macon.

The first of these games is with Hampden-Sidney in Petersburg Saturday. This game decides whether or not the Yellow Jackets will win the championship, as they are not in the lead and with only one more game to play they clinch the cup if they beat the Yellow Jackets Saturday.

The last game of the season is that between the Yellow Jackets and Richmond College Spiders, to be played at Broad Street Park the Saturday after Thanksgiving, winding up the season for the Eastern Virginia Intercollegiate Association.

The Yellow Jackets were defeated earlier in the season by the Hampden-Sidney eleven by two drop kicks. The Yellow Jackets are out to wipe out this defeat, and at the same time, prevent the first game of the season from being played poorly, especially on the offense, since then their backs have improved wonderfully as shown by the splendid interference they displayed in the overwhelming defeat administered to William and Mary a week ago.

Coach Reiss will put forth every effort to have his men in tip-top form for this game, and the people of Petersburg are anxious to witness a variety of football they have not seen in a long while, as Hampden-Sidney is out to land that cup.

Mandot Awarded Decision

BOSTON, November 17.—Mandot, of Memphis, and Young Saylor, of Indianapolis, two of the leading contestants for the lightweight championship, clasped to-night at the Amateur Association, and Mandot, who was the favorite with the fans, was awarded the decision after twelve rounds of clever fighting. Mandot will now be matched to meet Champion Freddie Welsh in the near future.

BOXERS HOLDING UP FIGHT PROMOTERS

Get Nearly Everything in Sight, and Then Ask for More—Is Proving Detrimental to Game.

ONE WAY TO BEAT PUGS

Get Together and Fix Scale—Billy Gibson Withdraws—Johnson Out of Pocket on Welsh and Wolgast Scrap.

NEW YORK, November 17.

The fight promoters ought to get together and form a little trust for the purpose of thwarting the fighters in their efforts to get about 99.4 per cent of all the money that is taken in at the box office.

Promoting prize fighters in this thriving metropolis and in other cities is just as profitable as raising chickens in one's backyard, since the fighters started demanding guarantees and huge percentages.

In the olden days the promoters pulled down a fairly sizeable war, but their trouble in staging a bout. But times have changed. The greedy fighters want about all the money that is taken in at the box office. After the fighters get their guarantee it leaves the promoters just about enough to go out and buy themselves a couple of packages of chewing gum, in some instances the promoters suffer a financial loss.

Bad for the Fight Game

This condition will continue just so long as the promoters permit the fighters to dictate their own exorbitant terms. The longer this condition exists the worse it will be for the fight game, for with the fighters continually increasing their demands it means that the promoters must boost the admission prices to meet the increasing guarantees for fighters. That will hurt the attendance.

There is just one way for the promoters to beat the money-mad fighters, and that is for the promoters to get together and agree to a certain scale for fighters—and stick to that scale.

The promoters, to enable themselves to "get out from under" in all the bouts without suffering a loss, should force the fighters to fight for a certain percentage of the receipts. The business of guaranteeing the fighters a fixed sum isn't fair to the promoter.

It's a gamble with the fighters something on the bout, but if the weather is bad or something else turns up to decrease the attendance, the only doesn't get a dollar for his time and labor, but he loses money on the venture.

Will Get Bulk of Receipts

However, the fighter will continue to get the bulk of the gate receipts, and will continue to play in a few days, but will be unable to play in the game with Carolina on Saturday.

Billy Gibson, connected with the fight game in New York for many years, regarded as the most successful fight promoter in the East—and also the shrewdest. Yet Gibson quit the game in disgust, and gave the reason for his departure that the fighters get nearly all the money taken in at the gate, and that the promoters get little and sometimes nothing for their efforts.

"Conditions are bad now, but they will get worse," said Gibson. "These fighters each day are yelling for bigger guarantees or bigger percentages."

Staged Ritchie-Cross Bout

Gibson staged the Willie Ritchie-Leach Cross fight at New York last winter. The house was packed. The fight drew nearly $22,000. Everybody figured that it would mean a harvest for the promoters. When the bills were paid, when the other bills were paid, and when the State Boxing Commission got its share there was just about $1,500 left to split among the members of the promoting club. And this $1,500 was their gross $400. The club that Gibson was managing had spent hundreds of dollars to land that fight.

A new crowd of promoters, headed by James J. Johnson, is conducting fights in Madison Square Garden now. When they entered the field they figured that they could make money. They had the idea that bulky profits could be made if the thing is run right. They thought other promoters had failed to grab large profits because they didn't manage things as they should be managed.

Johnson staged the Freddy Welsh-Al Volger fight. It was expected that the house would be about $20,000. Instead it was slightly over $13,000. The State Boxing Commission got its share there was just about $1,500 left to split among the members of the promoting club. And this $1,500 was their gross $400. The club that Gibson was managing had spent hundreds of dollars to land that fight.

Figure all these items up and you will find that Johnson and his associates, who worked night and day to get the bout, and who worked about twenty hours a day after they got the bout so as to make it staging as perfect as possible, got just about enough net profit for their efforts to enable them to go out and buy themselves two or three soda waters and a nice, new 50-cent necktie.

Harry Wills, the giant negro boxer,

has made a hit with the California fight fans. He is as big as Peter Jackson or Jack Johnson. This fellow is likely to cut some figure in the prize ring in the near future.

SCRUBS SCORE ONE TOUCHDOWN

Regulars Make Three Downs While Practicing, Breaking Up Air-Line Route Plays, Which Virginia Is So Skillful in Perfecting.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., November 17.

Defensive work had the centre of the stage in Carolina's manoeuvres this afternoon. A formidable second string aggregation had to avert to a variety of forms of attacks before plowing their way across the field for the single touchdown of the afternoon. Three touchdowns were credited the scrubs for the brief time devoted to offensive playing.

Prolonged periods were spent by the varsity in spilling the forward passes uncovered by the scrubs. The regulars exercised fair skill in thwarting the air line route plays, which Virginia's back field are so skillful in perfecting. This form of practice will be repeated as Virginia's contemplated victory over Carolina seems to centre on this vulnerable point.

George Tandy, centre, and Graham Ramsey, left tackle, evidence a bulwark strength on defensive tackling. Ramsey often broke through the opposing line, crumpling one player in his diving tactics, and squelching another scrub player carrying the ball. Tandy emerged from the fierce mixup with a slight injury, but it is not thought that it is serious.

Captain Tayloe was reserved from practice, paying a visit to laboratory work. He is in splendid trim. Horace Covell, right guard, was absent from the lineup, suffering with an attack of tonsillitis.

"To!" Pendleton, Princeton back field coach, and Thornton Emmons, Princeton's former star, arrived here to-day to aid the regular coaching crew. Pendleton saw Virginia in action against Yale, and will be valuable in shaping the Princeton team for the performance of Virginia's plays.
